

The World of Esoteric Acupuncture

Spiritual Level of Acupuncture By Mikeo Sankey, OMD, LAc

Acupuncture in the United States is still relatively new, and students are taught the theories developed in Asia in the past. They are taught the theories of Zang-Fu Differentiation, diagnosing the signs and symptoms of a diseased or imbalanced state, then taught how to utilize various acupuncture points along with Chinese (Asian) herbal formulas to bring about a more harmonious state. How will acupuncture be used in the United States five or ten years from now? As the problems we face today become more complex and the intricacies of these problems become more clearly defined, we will need new solutions to solve these more complex problems. Do you as an acupuncture practitioner feel confident in working with the energetics of acupuncture and harmonizing Qi (energy) on levels above the dense physical, astral (emotional), and mental bodies?

Acupuncture derives its name from the Latin word for needles, acus, and from the English word puncture. Acus can also be translated as obelisk, which in esoteric teachings is a term often used to symbolically denote a temple. To puncture means to pierce something. Esoteric is defined as not readily seen, recognized, or understood except by those with a certain level of consciousness or inner plane awareness and insight. The temple I am referring to consists of our dense physical and etheric bodies and the acupuncture sites are merely gateways to allow the person to enter the inner realms of a different reality.

Esoteric Acupuncture does not merely define the process of inserting a physical acupuncture needle into the dense physical vehicle using specific acupuncture patterns. Esoteric Acupuncture is a philosophy of life concerning healing on all levels, especially the Spiritual planes. Each healer must be aware of his or her own energy field. The energetics of everything you eat and drink, as well as your emotional and mental thoughts, are being transmitted through your hands and through the acupuncture needles. The acupuncture needles used to pierce the physical vehicle utilizing specific geometric patterns are merely one method to be able to enter into the consciousness realms at our Soul plane and Spiritual levels. The only criteria involved in the philosophy of Esoteric Acupuncture is that one considers exploring all the inner plane possibilities (various Spiritual planes) available for each individual. The journey into the higher planes is a Journey of Healing. Esoteric Acupuncture is one modality that gives us the opportunity to enter into the gateways of a higher form of healing.

Esoteric Acupuncture is a synthesis of traditional Chinese acupuncture, the Hindu Chakra System (Layayoga), Jnana yoga, Sacred Geometry, the Hebrew Cabalah (Qabbalah), Sacred Numbers, Dinshah's Spectra-Chrome Color Theory, Djwhal Khul's inner plane work, the theories of Field and String physics, Theosophy, and the most important concept which is to always work from the Heart and not merely the academic left brain. These different philosophies are put together in one usable working format via New Encoding Patterns and Chakra Balancing Patterns. The New Encoding Patterns and the Chakra Balancing Patterns are based on geometric sequencing of specific acupuncture points using Sacred Geometry and Sacred Numbers. Sacred Geometry adds additional dimensions for working with Qi/prana such as the concept of morphic resonance. Morphic resonance is a consciousness connection which is completely different from linear, acoustic, or other types of resonant connections.

We all have energy vortices known as chakras. Chakras can be thought of as storehouses of information and of all of our experiences. There are seven major chakra systems in the human body, and a number of less emphasized chakras depending upon which system you use. Acupuncture sites can be thought of as micro chakras. An imbalanced chakra or chakras will eventually lead to a physical imbalance. Using a specific Chakra Balancing Pattern or a New Encoding Pattern will initiate balancing, harmonizing and tonifying the various chakras, as well as balance energies on planes higher than that at the chakra levels. Needling specific acupuncture sites using the theories of Esoteric Acupuncture will assist us in reconnecting with the inner levels of our Heart to initiate a form of healing on the higher realms of consciousness at the Soul and Spiritual levels.

Esoteric Acupuncture integrates all of the planes from the dense physical to the causal, buddhic, atmic, and higher Spiritual planes, and is designed for all New Energy Healers who wish to move from the paradigm of the Age of Pisces, which is working on the various stages of disease, into the Age of Aquarius, which will eventually focus on various levels of Wellness and health on all planes. If we wish to change the world to a better place for humanity, then we must change our own world which includes our inner world. If we bring in more light to our lives and change ourselves to a healthier more positive person, then we have already shifted the planet and ultimately everything to a better place.

Dr. Sankey will be teaching a workshop on esoteric acupuncture on Sunday, October 22.
